DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §§ 102 and 103

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-9, 11-17, 20, 21, 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent Number 6,561,905 (Ting).

Regarding claims 1-7, 16, 17, 20, 21 and 24, Figures 1-3 of Ting show the recited game apparatus including the comparison means (circuit assembly A) and the disincentive administering means (contact elements 24).

Regarding claims 8, 9 and 25, buttons 13 correspond to the recited voltage setting means. See column 2, lines 58-60 and Figure 1.

Regarding claims 11 and 12, Figure 1 shows the recited input device 23.

Regarding claims 13 and 14, LCD A31 corresponds to the recited display. See Figure 3.

Regarding claim 15, voice control circuit A43 corresponds to the recited audio device.

See Figure 3.

5. Claims 10, 18, 19, 22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ting as applied above.

Regarding claim 10, it would have been obvious to substitute an automatic voltage setting means for the manual buttons of Ting since it has generally been recognized that the use of a conventional control to automate a previously manual operation involves only routine skill in the art.

Regarding claims 18, 19, 22 and 23, as the Ting control circuit is designed to administer the disincentive to a losing player, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the Ting device by changing the circuit to administer the disincentive to all non-winners or just the slowest player, since applicant has not disclosed that having these specific results solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the Ting game would perform equally well with any type of disincentive administration as long as the winner does not receive the disincentive.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
